Hanover in planning stages for using $574K grant

BY BOB DEMAREE

The town of Hanover is currently in the planning stages on how to best utilize a $574,412 Land and Water Conservation Fund (LWCF) grant for improvements to Hanover Community Park.

Rick Schnebelt, the project manager for implementing the grant administered by the Indiana Department of Natural Resources (DNR), told Hanover Town Council at its meeting last week that he's working now toward lining up bids and price quotes for the projects while establishing schedules for the work.

Before that work begins, another project at the park must be done to replaces a backstop and foul fence that's become rusted out on field two. That project will cost the town $20,718.15 with U.S. Premier Tube Mills donating the fence posts at a savings of $6,115. The remaining $14,603.15 was approved by the town council for payment out of Hanover's American Rescue Plan funds. Of that, $7,078.15 will go for the chain link fencing and fittings from Master Halco at a discounted price with $7,525 for labor to take out the old fencing and install the new fencing by Can Do Maintenance.

Parks Director Scott Davidson said they want to complete projects that are not part of the LWCF work, such as the fencing project, before work begins on the grant-funded projects. Other work to be done before the grant includes new dugouts that Davidson said are nearly complete.

"We're trying to coordinate with all our programming going on" while the work is being done, said Davidson, and the intention of organizing with

Ball State students helping to preserve Madison's Black history

BY BOB DEMAREE

Hoping to craft a neighborhood plan for gathering and preserving Madison's Black history, historic preservation graduate students from Ball State University were in the community last week to learn more about the Georgetown and other neighborhoods and their roles in Black history.

"Madison is one of the finest historic districts in the state," said J.P. Hall, assistant professor of historic preservation at Ball State's College of Architecture and Planning. Hall said he was invited into the project related to Georgetown through a request by Eunice Trotter, director of the Black Heritage Preservation Program for Indiana Landmarks.

"I solicited support of Ball State because we want to make a difference," said Trotter.

In addition, Indiana Landmarks has hired consultant Rita Organ to survey "areas that we believe were historically Black areas at one time" which includes not just the Georgetown area but also locations on north Broadway Street.

The Broadway Street area was actually historically Black longer, including the Broadway High School that once existed on land that is

More than 50 years service on Hanover Trustee Advisory Board

BY BOB DEMAREE

For more than half-a-century, Melvin Adams has served on the Hanover Township Trustee Advisory Board, and on Saturday he was presented the Distinguished Hoosier award by State Rep. Randy Frye on behalf of Indiana Gov. Eric Holcomb.

Adams, who was reelected for a 14th term in the 2022 general election, has started his 53rd year of serving on the advisory board. Frye said he checked with the Indiana Secretary of State's office and confirmed that Adams is the longest current serving township advisory board member in Indiana. However, Frye said the Secretary of State's office was unable to confirm if Adam's "the longest serving ever, or just now" but Frye said he might just be both.

Frye said Adams is worthy of the Distinguished Hoosier award because "his life service has distinguished himself as someone worthy of recognition by the Governor of Indiana."

Adams, 87, worked 42 years at the Indiana-Kentucky Electric Corporation, and was also a farmer. More than 20 years ago, he built and opened Butler Falls Golf Course in Hanover.

Adams said he has taken his service as an advisory board member seriously, providing oversight for the township trustee, ensuring budgets are reviewed and working in the best interests of township residents.

Groundbreaking for Gaines Park set for Feb. 22

BY MARK CAMPBELL

Madison Mayor Bob Courtney read a proclamation declaring February Black History Month and announced a groundbreaking later this month to rebuild Gaines Park on the site of the former Broadway High School in one of Madison's historically Black neighborhoods.

Meanwhile, Police Chief John Wallace recognized the retirement of a 21-year veteran of that department and Madison City Council approved two ordinances at a special meeting held last week while also unveiling the recently refurbished Crystal Beach Pool House.

All that served as an undercard to an even bigger announcement (published in the Thursday, Feb, 9 edition) to announce that the city was moving forward with a $7,270,021 million rebuild of the Crystal Beach pool itself with the venue being renamed Crystal Beach Aquatic Park with $2 million in funding pledged by the Bethany Legacy Foundation and another $570,000 committed by Jefferson County government.

The Black History proclamation came with another promise related to park improvements. Courtney noted that while work will begin immediately on the pool project, a ground breaking will be held later this month on a rebuild of Gaines Park on the site of the Broadway High School — Madison's historic Black school building — with the ceremony at 5:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 22, with hopes that the project can be finished in time for the annual Broadway School Reunion in September.

Meanwhile, Wallace recognized Lt. Dan Slygh, who is retiring from the Madison Police Department after more than 21 years with the city.

Slygh, who joined the force in September 2000, said it was "an honor and a privilege to serve" on MPD "and I hope I did it well."

The council heard the second and third readings of an ordinance establishing a nonreverting fund to handle a National Park Service Paul Bruhn Historic Revitalization Grant for rehabilitating historic structures and another to approve a zoning now Gaines Park. Trotter noted Georgetown's Black presence went to the Civil War but remains "important to document because it is evidence of the early history of Black people in this community."

And the focus on Madison is significant because of the community's rich history overall.

"Madison is one of the oldest communities" in Indiana, said Trotter, noting that with Madison's location "right on the Ohio River, it was the river communities that developed. It is one of oldest communities for people who came from land grants after revolutionary war and they brought their enslaved people with them."

"It was not just enslaved people who were here, these were people freed themselves that were here, as well as people that bought their freedom, and people who crossed that river from Kentucky to get away," Totter, who is author of the book, "Black in Indiana," published in 2020, said.

Hall said six Ball State students are involved in the project that began in January that's a learning experience for them as they compile data and develop a plan for Madison that will be completed in May.

"We came in without any preconceptions so we're kind of learning. A lot of the students have never been" to Madison with Friday being the first day, said Hall. "We have spent the last five weeks looking at the history of Georgetown in Madison."

Bob Demaree

On Friday, the students did field work, walked the neighborhoods and looked at the current condition of the neighborhoods. They then met at the Madison-Jefferson County Public Library to hear stories and collect information from the public, taking notes and making recordings.

As the students gather and compile their findings, recommendations will be made on how to move forward. "We'll package it together in a report to build upon," said Hall. "Nothing is going to be solved per say. If anything, we might start a conversation and lead to future discussions; it's our hope."

Hall said the students' work will provide an outsider's view of the community — "an unbiased perspective" — to the community.

"They will be just considerations or suggestions the neighborhood can take to move forward," he said. "They're the real experts. We're not the experts on Georgetown neighborhood, they're the experts, and people of Madison are the experts."

"Primary for students is to learn something, and if there's a tangible benefit for the community in which we work, even better," he said.

Whatever is done will be helpful, said Trotter. "We are gathering information to collect data" and provide direction on how to move forward. "What could Georgetown look like? What could Broadway area look like? What are some of the assets? What are some of the liabilities?"

For Indiana Landmarks, Trotter said the work of the students will help that organization to get "information to help us know how to allocate resources."

She said people in the community will have guidance on where to start to find information on their properties because it will be gathered and organized in a way that had not been done before.

"People don't know where to start," and this work will help them," she said. "People who live here, who have skin in the game here, will be able to benefit."

minimal interruption in parks activities. "Our goal is not to affect our summer baseball and softball programs."

Among the projects that will be funded with the LWCF grant are lighting for the baseball/softball fields and tennis courts, new storage/officials buildings that include restrooms and a refurbishing of the tennis courts.

At Tuesday's meeting, there was also consideration of projects for the Hanover Community Building that are also not part of the grant.

At Tuesday's meeting, there was also consideration of projects for the Hanover Community Building that are also not part of the grant. There was discussion of a project for the Hanover Community Building that would turn the back patio into a game room.

Last month, there was consideration of installing new doors at the back patio in order to make them American Disabilities Act compliant. However, those plans have been delayed until a decision is made about creating the game room. "We're going to hold off on that until they come back with an estimate" for the cost of adding the game room, said town council President Debbie Kroger.

Work was recently to create two rooms in the Community Building, just outside the parks director's office with a small hallway between the rooms. One of the rooms provides storage for the senior citizens and the other is for the parks department's event coordinator.

In other business:

- Scott Williams, the town's superintendent of utilities and streets, reported that 325 of the town's new digital meters are now in operation out the nearly 1,000 meters to be installed. Approximately 30 to 35 meters are being installed each workday. The new meters have the capability of being read back digitally to town hall, automatically calculating the water bills for customers.
- Scott Jester and Collin Toler presented a donation of $4,500 from the Hanover Co-Ed Softball Association to the parks department, and the association is also sponsoring a youth team for $200.
- Property at 132 West Street was donated to the town by Mark and Cynthia Rogers to provide 35 additional parking spaces for the community park. Kroger said she signed paperwork last week to finalize the property transfer.

map change involving 3122 and 3134 Clifty Drive from General Business to Light Industry.

The nonreverting fund will serve as an account for the city to administer a $325,000 National Park Service Paul Bruhn Historic Revitalization Grant to support the city's Preservation and Community Enhancement (PACE) Grant Program.

The zoning change will allow Story Properties LLC, a group from Ewing, Kentucky, to locate at 3122 and 3134 Clifty Drive, where the company will do light manufacturing such as welding, grinding, cutting and assembling equipment used in industrial applications and employ up to eight workers. The company services power plants in Ghent, Kentucky, and Wise Landing in Trimble County but would look to expand business into Indiana once operational.

In his mayor's comments at the end of the meeting, Courtney recognized the death of Joe Knobel, 85, a volunteer firefighter for Fair Play Fire Company No. 1 in downtown Madison for more than 62 years.

The council's next meeting will be Tuesday, Feb 21, at 5:30 p.m. in Madison City Hall.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Tuesday, Feb. 14, the 45th day of 2023. There are 326 days left in the year. This is Valentine's Day.

Today's Highlight in History:

In 1989, Iran's Ayatollah Khomeini called on Muslims to kill Salman Rushdie, author of "The Satanic Verses," a novel condemned as blasphemous.

On this date:

In 1876, inventors Alexander Graham Bell and Elisha Gray applied separately for patents related to the telephone. (The U.S. Supreme Court eventually ruled Bell the rightful inventor.)

In 1912, Arizona became the 48th state of the Union as President William Howard Taft signed a proclamation.

In 1913, labor leader Jimmy Hoffa was born in Brazil, Ind.; college football coach Woody Hayes was born in Clifton, Ohio; sports broadcaster Mel Allen was born in Birmingham, Ala.

In 1924, the Computing-Tabulating-Recording Co. of New York was formally renamed International Business Machines Corp., or IBM.

In 1929, the "St. Valentine's Day Massacre" took place in a Chicago garage as seven rivals of Al Capone's gang were gunned down.

In 1945, during World War II, British and Canadian forces reached the Rhine River in Germany.

In 1967, Aretha Franklin recorded her cover of Otis Redding's "Respect" at Atlantic Records in New York.

In 1984, 6-year-old Stormie Jones became the world's first heart-liver transplant recipient when the surgery was performed at Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh.

Ten years ago: Double-amputee Olympic sprinter Oscar Pistorius shot and killed his girlfriend, Reeva Steenkamp, at his home in Pretoria, South Africa; he was later convicted of murder and is serving a 13-year prison term.

Five years ago: A gunman identified as a former student opened fire with a semi-automatic rifle at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School near Fort Lauderdale, Fla., killing 17 people in the nation's deadliest school shooting since the attack in Newtown, Conn., more than five years earlier. (Nikolas Cruz pleaded guilty to murder in October 2021 and was sentenced in November 2022 to life in prison without the possibility of parole.)

One year ago: The Kremlin signaled it was ready to keep talking with the West about security grievances that led to the Ukraine crisis, offering hope that Russia might not invade its neighbor within days. (Russia would invade Ukraine less than a week later.) Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau invoked emergency powers to try to quell the protests by truck drivers and others who paralyzed Ottawa and blocked border crossings in anger over the country's COVID-19 restrictions.

Today's birthdays: Former New York City Mayor Michael Bloomberg is 81. Jazz musician Maceo Parker is 80. Journalist Carl Bernstein is 79. Former Sen. Judd Gregg, R-N.H., is 76. TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Wednesday, Feb. 15, the 46th day of 2023. There are 325 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Feb. 15, 1879, President Rutherford B. Hayes signed a bill allowing female attorneys to argue cases before the Supreme Court.

On this date:

In 1764, the site of present-day St. Louis was established by Pierre Laclede and Auguste Chouteau.

In 1898, the U.S. battleship Maine mysteriously blew up in Havana Harbor, killing more than 260 crew members and bringing the United States closer to war with Spain.

In 1933, President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt escaped an assassination attempt in Miami that mortally wounded Chicago Mayor Anton J. Cermak; gunman Giuseppe Zangara was executed more than four weeks later.

In 1944, Allied bombers destroyed the monastery atop Monte Cassino in Italy.

In 1950, Walt Disney's animated film "Cinderella" premieres in Boston.

In 1961, 73 people, including an 18-member U.S. figure skating team en route to the World Championships in Czechoslovakia, were killed in the crash of a Sabena Airlines Boeing 707 in Belgium.

In 1965, singer Nat King Cole, 45, died in Santa Monica, California.

In 1967, the rock band Chicago was founded by Walter Parazaider, Terry Kath, Danny Seraphine, Lee Loughnane, James Pankow and Robert Lamm; the group originally called itself The Big Thing, then Chicago Transit Authority.

In 1989, the Soviet Union announced that the last of its troops had left Afghanistan, after more than nine years of military intervention.

In 1992, a Milwaukee jury found that Jeffrey Dahmer was sane when he killed and mutilated 15 men and boys. (The decision meant that Dahmer, who had already pleaded guilty to the murders, would receive a mandatory life sentence for each count; Dahmer was beaten to death in prison in 1994.)

In 2003, millions of protesters around the world demonstrated against the prospect of a U.S. attack on Iraq.

In 2005, defrocked priest Paul Shanley was sentenced in Boston to 12 to 15 years in prison on child rape charges.

In 2020, the U.S. government said Americans who were on board a cruise ship under quarantine in Japan because of the coronavirus would be flown back home on a chartered flight, but that they would face another two-week quarantine; about 380 Americans were aboard the Diamond Princess.

Ten years ago: With a blinding flash and a booming shock wave, a meteor blazed across Russia's western Siberian sky and exploded, injuring more than 1,000 people as it blasted out windows.

Five years ago: The last of the bodies of the 17 victims of a school shooting in Florida were removed from the building after authorities analyzed the crime scene; 13 wounded survivors were still hospitalized. In response to the shooting, President Donald Trump, in an address to the nation, promised to "tackle the difficult issue of mental health," but avoided any mention of guns.

One year ago: Russian President Vladimir Putin said he welcomed a security dialogue with the West as his military reported pulling back some of its troops near Ukraine. U.S. President Joe Biden said the U.S. had "not yet verified" Russia's claim and that an invasion still remains a distinct possibility. (Russia would invade Ukraine five days later.)

Today's birthdays: Actor Claire Bloom is 92. Author Susan Brownmiller is 88. Songwriter Brian Holland is 82. Rock musician Mick Avory (The Kinks) is 79. Jazz musician Henry Threadgill is 79. Actor-model Marisa Berenson is 76. Actor Jane Seymour is 72. Singer Melissa Manchester is 72. Actor Lynn Whitfield is 70. "Simpsons" creator Matt Groening is 69. Model Janice Dickinson is 68. Actor-director Miranda July is 49. Rock singer Brandon Boyd (Incubus) is 47. Rock musician Ronnie Vannucci (The Killers) is 47.

OBITUARIES

Carol Bell

Carol Diane Cline Bell, 76, of Madison, Indiana, died Saturday, Feb. 11, 2023, at Norton Hospital in Louisville, after a battle with cancer.

She was born on April 19, 1946, in Madison, Indiana, to Charles Ora and Catherine Barnett Cline. She resided all of her life in Jefferson County, Indiana, and graduated in 1964 from Deputy High School in Deputy, Indiana. She began her work career with Reliance Electric in 1968 and retired as a machinist there in 2006. She also was a member of the Machinist Union and served as secretary. She obtained her real estate license and worked with Schuler Bauer Realty in Scottsburg, Indiana, for five years. She also owned rental property. She worked for a time at Goodwill, was a member of Smyrna Monroe Presbyterian Church and also worshiped at Mt. Zion United Methodist Church in Paynesville. She was a member of Smyrna Homemaker's Club and enjoyed showing her crafts at the Jefferson County 4-H Fair. She loved baking, sewing, canning, quilting, gardening and watching home improvement shows. She loved her dog.

Survivors include her sons, Scott Bell of Pensacola, Florida and Chris Bell of Gambrills, Maryland; a special daughter-in-law, Jennifer Grooms of Madison; her brother, James "Jim" D. Cline of Deputy; her sister, Linda Lorentzen of Washburn, North Dakota; and 12 grandchildren, three great grandchildren; her nieces and nephew and other relatives and friends.

She was preceded in death by her parents; her stepfather, McCabe Luckett, on Oct. 25, 2011; and other family.

Memorial services will be at 11 a.m. on Saturday, Feb. 18, at the Smyrna Monroe Presbyterian Church on Deputy Pike near Volga, Indiana. Inurnment will follow at a later date in the Smyrna Cemetery on Deputy Pike near Volga. Arrangements entrusted to Morgan & Nay Funeral Centres of Madison and Hanover.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Jefferson County Animal Shelter or the Smyrna Monroe Presbyterian Church through the funeral home or at the church.

Steven Hemingway

Steven Hemingway, 52, of Madison, Indiana, died Thursday, Feb. 9, 2023, at Norton Hospital in Louisville.

He was born on Aug. 7, 1970, in Carrollton, Kentucky, to Edgar C. "Eddie" and Linda Charlene Brown Hemingway. He was raised in Gallatin County, Kentucky, and received his GED. He was married to Lisa Kay Hearn and they had two sons. He was a self-employed logger all of his working career. He was an avid Pittsburgh Steelers fan, enjoyed riding horses, coon hunting and playing with his grandchildren. He was a Christian.

Survivors include his parents of Vevay, Indiana; his wife of 34 years of Madison; his sons, Steven Douglas Hemingway and Shawn David Hemingway, both of Madison; five brothers, Eddie Hemingway of La Grange, Kentucky, Curtis Hemingway of East Enterprise, Indiana, Jeremy Hemingway of Versailles, Indiana and Kevin Hemingway and William Nathan Hemingway, both of Vevay; his sisters, Regina Hemingway of Florida, Sissy Hemingway Crawford of Crittenden, Kentucky, Leann Hemingway of Hebron, Kentucky, Natasha Hemingway, Cassie Johnson and Tiffani Hemingway, all of Lawrenceburg, Indiana and Priscilla Hemingway Moore of Union, Kentucky; and five grandchildren, numerous nieces, nephews, aunts, uncles and cousins.

He was preceded in death by a brother, Jason Anthony Hemingway, on Dec. 16, 2022.

Funeral services will be at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 15, at the Morgan & Nay Funeral Centre in Madison. Visitation is 4 p.m. until the time of services on Wednesday at the funeral home.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Steven Hemingway Remembrance Fund through the funeral home. Online condolences and memorials, www.morgan-nay.com.

GLENDALE, Ariz. — Patrick Mahomes was magical when the Kansas City Chiefs desperately needed him to pull off another Super Bowl comeback.

Playing on an injured ankle, Mahomes threw two touchdown passes in the fourth quarter and scrambled 26 yards on the go-ahead drive before Harrison Butker kicked a 27-yard field goal with 8 seconds left to give the Chiefs a 38-35 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles on Sunday night.

The Chiefs won their second NFL title in four years and two-time NFL MVP Mahomes earned his second Super Bowl MVP award.

"I thought guys just embraced the moment," Mahomes said about rallying from a 10-point halftime deficit. "In that first half, we were playing and doing some good stuff, but I felt like the guys were getting consumed by everything around us."

Mahomes and Jalen Hurts excelled in the first Super Bowl matchup featuring two Black starting QBs. But Mahomes turned it up in the second half after reaggravating a sprained right ankle.

"It took everybody to win the game," Mahomes shouted as red and yellow confetti littered the field.

Coach Andy Reid, who couldn't win the big game in Philadelphia, beat his former team to earn his second ring with Mahomes and the Chiefs.

"We wanted to get this so bad for him," Travis Kelce said. "His legacy in Philly lives on forever. ... There's a lot of pride in knowing that he's had success in two different organizations, but this was the better one."

With the score tied at 35-35, the Eagles tried to let the Chiefs score a touchdown with under two minutes left so they could get the ball back after a defensive holding call on cornerback James Bradberry on third-and-8 gave Kansas City a first down. But Jerick McKinnon slid at the 2, forcing the Eagles to use their last timeout.

"It was holding. I tugged his jersey. I was hoping they would let it slide," Bradberry said.

After Mahomes took a knee twice, Butker nailed his kick, sending thousands of red-clad Chiefs fans into a frenzy.

"It feels amazing just to see the confetti," said Butker, who missed a 42-yarder in the first quarter. "I just tried to focus on one kick and focusing on the process."

The Chiefs won their second Super Bowl following the 2019 season, 50 years after the first one. Mahomes led them back from a 10-point deficit in the fourth quarter against San Francisco in that one. It took just three years to get another Lombardi.

Chiefs fans were outnumbered in the stadium, but did their part to silence the boisterous Philly fans with the tomahawk chop chant.

Down 24-14 with a limping Mahomes, the Chiefs (17-3) followed up Rihanna's electrifying halftime performance with a sensational offensive outburst.

Mahomes, who suffered a high ankle sprain in the divisional round, hurt it again on a 3-yard scramble late in the second quarter. He limped off the field but showed no ill effects on Kansas City's next possession.

"I knew it was pretty bad when he got up limping but I knew it wasn't gonna be bad enough to where he was gonna pull himself off the field," Chiefs offensive coordinator Eric Bieniemy said. "If we would've pulled him off, I would've had to fight him. He would've probably fought me. And so it wasn't worth entertaining."

Mahomes slipped — several players lost their footing on the natural grass surface — in the pocket yet somehow regained his balance and scrambled 14 yards to the Eagles 4, setting up Isiah Pacheco's 1-yard TD run that cut the deficit to 24-21.

Southwestern's Peyton Gwin signs autographs for Little Rebels fans after scoring his 1,000th-career point in the Rebels' 71-70 ORVC championship-clinching win at Rising Sun on Friday.

Gwin gets 1,000th point in Rebels' ORVC-clinching win at Rising Sun

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

RISING SUN — Southwestern's lack of experience in close games cost it in a loss to South Ripley last week. On Friday, the Rebels showed exactly how far they have come in eight days.

Southwestern trailed Rising Sun by four points with four minutes to go but rallied to post a 71-70 win on the road in boys basketball.

The win clinched at least a share of the Rebels' first Ohio River Valley Conference title in four years and it came on a night when senior Peyton Gwin joined the Southwestern 1,000-point club. But more importantly was the fact that Southwestern was able to win a game with its back against the wall.

"We still need to learn how to calm down and play one possession at a time. Part of it's my fault, because I've trained them now to play really fast and now it's like, slow down at the end," Southwestern coach Zac Nussbaum said. "We still have a few more games to work on score and situation, especially when you're holding the lead in the fourth quarter. But we're getting better at it."

Gwin came into the game needing 10 points to reach 1,000 career points and did so on a pair of free throws late in the first half. For Gwin, who played his first two and a half years at Austin before moving to Hanover the second semester of last year, the milestone is a career goal made even more special by the circumstances.

"This is an amazing feeling and I've been wanting to do this ever since I've been in elementary school," Gwin said. "I'll remember this for the rest of my life. To get it on the night that we won conference, I definitely won't forget it. It's just amazing."

"People don't understand how hard it is to come from a completely different style of basketball, one where he had the ball in his hands all the time and he was expected to make something happen," Nussbaum said. "He came in and bought into what we're doing and I think he's becoming a really good passer. He's starting to get better on defense and understanding the full game and that's what's gonna help him get ready for college."

Southwestern's Brady Cook (15) blocks the shot of Rising Sun's Brady Works during Friday's 71-70 Rebel win on the road. The win clinched at least a share of the Rebels' first Ohio River Valley Conference title in four years.

Gwin and junior Jamison Lewis dominated the first half and Southwestern led 46-36 at halftime. But any thoughts of a quick knockout were dashed when Rising Sun opened the third quarter on fire, eventually taking a 61-60 lead on a Gavin Shorten jumper early in the fourth quarter.

The teams traded buckets from there on until Rising Sun took its largest lead of the night at 68-64 with 4:02 to go on a Peyton Merica basket.

Back-to-back steals leading to Gwin layups brought the Rebels back. Gwin got the first steal and jogged in for an easy layup while the second was pilfered by Lewis on a half-court trap and led to another basket by Gwin. Peyton Cloud then gave Southwestern the lead on a free throw with 2:16 to go.

Brady Works put the Shiners (9-12, 1-4 ORVC) back on top with a basket with 1:42 left, but Gwin tied the game 70-70 on a free throw with 1:28 to go. Another steal by the Rebels led to a Cloud free throw with 5.5 seconds left and a 71-70 lead.

Brady Cook then stole Rising Sun's inbounds pass at mid-court to seal the win.

Lewis scored 24 points and Gwin had 18 to lead Southwestern. Claytin Sontag added 13 points for the Rebels (17-3).

Southwestern finished ORVC play with a 5-1 record while Milan, Jac-Cen-Del and South Ripley each have just one loss in conference, but still have several games left to play. If all three lose at lease one more conference game, the Rebels win the title outright while those who survive unscathed share the crown with the Rebels.

Whether shared or outright doesn't matter to the Rebels, who haven't won the ORVC since 2018-19 squad when they were ranked No. 1 in the state and rolled undefeated through league play.

"We haven't won this conference in a while and to be able to do it feels pretty good," Nussbaum said. "As I told the boys in the locker room, there's one reason you play the game and that's to win. And we won. It wasn't pretty, but we got the job done and at the end of the day, we made enough plays to win by one. And that's all that matters."

Southwestern hosts Austin (4-15) on Friday then hosts Scottsburg (16-2) on Saturday.

Canida finishes 28th at state finals

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Madison freshman Lilly Canida wrapped up her outstanding rookie season with a 28th-place finish in the 100-yard freestyle state finals at IUPUI in Indianapolis on Friday night.

Canida, who won the sectional title with a time of 54.00, touched the pad in 54.64 on Friday against the 31 best swimmers in the state. Lillian Christianson of Penn won the state championship with a time of 48.59. It was just one of two events not won by powerhouse Carmel, which racked up a record 498 points while rolling to its 37th consecutive state championship in 37 years.

While the girls swim season has wrapped up, the boys will compete in the IHSAA Sectional at Highland Hills Middle School near Floyd Central this week. The preliminaries will be held on Thursday with the finals on Saturday afternoon.

Wrestling season comes to an end at semistate

BY THE COURIER STAFF

The season came to an end for six local wrestlers at the IHSAA Semistate at Evansville on Saturday.

Two wrestlers, Switzerland County's Peyton Richards and Madison's Van Skinner, won their first-round matches but fell one win short of advancing to the state finals. Four others, Switzerland County's Ethan Rose, Gabe Rose and Dakota Fields, and Madison's Ayden Waggoner, each lost in the first round.

Richards' quarterfinal loss was his first of the season. The freshman, who won both the sectional and regional titles at 120 pounds, opened the semistate with a 9-0 major decision over Dalton Pledger of Heritage Hills but then suffered a 9-1 major decision loss to Center Grove's Eddie Goss in the quarterfinals. Richards ended his stellar freshman season with a 42-1 record.

Skinner, posted a 6-1 win over Tecumseh's Anthony Black in the opening round at 182 pounds but was then pinned in 1:12 by Bray Emerine of Floyd Central in the quarterfinals. Skinner ends his celebrated career with a 31-4 record this season and 146-19 overall.

Ethan Rose (34-5) fell 4-0 to Monrovia's Gavin Ash at 106 pounds, Fields (33-7) lost 9-2 to Tell City's Walter Hagedorn at 113 pounds, Gabe Rose (40-2) lost 10-2 to Martinsville's Trevor Hott at 138 pounds, and Waggoner (17-7) was pinned in 1:09 by eventual semistate champion Delaney Ruhlman of Bloomington South at 170 pounds.

Patient pace fails as Cubs fall to Floyd, Greensburg

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Madison's slow, patient style kept the Cubs in the game but their lack of offense was once again an issue as Madison dropped a pair of games over the weekend, 62-40 at Floyd Central on Friday and 54-31 at home to Greensburg on Saturday.

In both games, Madison's zone defense kept their opponent from running away early and the Cubs were still within striking distance at halftime. But the lack of offense, which has plagued Madison all season, ruined any chance at victory as their opponents pulled away in the second half.

"I want the guys to be aggressive and look for their look and for their opportunity. But my main thing is confidence," Madison coach Adam Stotts said. "The crazy thing is that in practice, these guys are shooting all the time and they're playing with confidence, but when they get out on the floor they don't show it and tend to go in their shell a little bit. So we've got to make sure that we match their intensity to start the game."

Madison got off to a rough start against Floyd Central on Friday, trailing 16-7 after the first quarter but settled down in the second and trailed only 31-21 at halftime. But the Highlanders pulled away in the second half after Madison hit only six shots from the floor over the final 16 minutes.

Mason Davis led Madison with 13 points and Quincy Reynolds scored 10 against Floyd. Ryder Jones continued his recent strong play with eight points.

David Campbell

Madison's Ryder Jones (left) battles for a rebound with Greensburg's Addison Barnes-Pettit (24) during Saturday's game at Salm Gym in Madison. The Pirates pulled away in the second half for a 54-31 road win, their 11th straight over the Cubs who have now lost a record 18 of 20 games.

Madison's defense dominated the first 12 minutes of Saturday night's game at home against Greensburg. The Cubs held Greensburg to just 10 points over that span and gave up only 20 in the first half.

But Madison's offense couldn't take advantage, managing just 10 points of its own and trailing by 10 at the half. Greensburg figured out the zone in the second half and the Pirates outscored Madison 34-21 in the second half to win going away.

The Cubs again shot poorly — going 11-for-35 (31%) for the game — but also turned the ball over 16 times, many of which came while trying to force the ball into the paint.

"One of the things we put out this week was that we wanted to limit our turnovers which I don't think we did very well this weekend," said Stotts, whose team had 17 turnovers against Floyd on Friday. "We played well offensively at the beginning of the year. And then we were like, man, we really need to play defense. So we've been focusing on defense and now it's like OK, now we're going the other way now. We just need guys to be more confident."

Davis scored 15 points on 5-of-9 of shooting to account for nearly half of Madison's scoring. Reynolds scored nine points and James Schafer had four.

Madison now sits at 2-18 on the season, its worst record after 20 games in school history. The 18 losses also represent the most the Cubs have ever suffered, matching last year's total, and the program hasn't won fewer than three games in a season since the 1930s.

Madison has four regular-season games left, most of which are winnable games. Stotts knows that his young team has a chance to end the season strong, but he also knows that they can't take anything for granted.

"I never put it in our kids' heads that anything is given to us or that we should win a game. But I definitely think that we match up well next weekend," Stotts said. "I think our guys have to take both of those games next weekend like they are the Super Bowl. I'm excited. I think playing at home too is always nice."

Madison hosts Columbus East (1-17) on Friday and then hosts Trinity Lutheran (5-13) on Saturday.

Switzerland wins battle of injured stars, 66-36 over Shawe

BY JORDAN BEAR

Switzerland County came out on top of Shawe Memorial in a battle where both teams were missing their leading scorers, 66-36 in boys basketball on Friday in Vevay.

Switzerland County has been without sophomore sensation Cam Craig, who will miss the rest of the season with a broken foot, while Shawe played without junior Philip Kahn, who suffered a concussion in the Hilltoppers' win over Columbus Christian on Tuesday.

Without the two stars, who average nearly 50 points per game combined, it was up to the rest of the teams to carry the load.

"Obviously, without Cam we know other guys have to step up and I'm proud of them for doing that tonight," Switzerland coach Travis Wrightsman said. "We would love to have Cam with us but it's next man up. You don't just stop playing because a player went down, other guys have to step up and tonight they did that."

Without Kahn, Shawe struggled to get many good looks offensively as the Pacers were determined to stop the team's second-leading scorer, Wyatt Nichter. Nichter got very few good looks on the night and the Hilltoppers found points hard to come by despite a dozen points by Eric Liu.

"Without Philip, it's just so hard for other guys to have to try to match what he brought every game," Shawe coach Dan Hambrick said. "I was proud of Eric's scoring tonight but it's just tough without Philip but I'm proud of our effort none the less."

Switzerland (9-12, 2-3 Ohio River Valley) rode the play of Jacob Williams throughout most of the game, jumping ahead of Shawe 11-3 after the first quarter. The second quarter saw the game get blown wide open as the Pacers couldn't' be stopped offensively en route to a 34-16 halftime lead. Although Shawe never backed down, the Hilltoppers simply didn't have enough weapons to keep up with Switzerland County.

Switzerland County was led by Jacob Williams with 25 points while Canaan Johnson scored 13 points and Kadyn Riley had 11.

Nichter scored 14 points to go with Liu's 12 to lead Shawe (8-12, 0-4 ORVC).

On Saturday, Switzerland suffered a 69-59 loss at Henryville to fall to 9-13 overall on the season.

Wrightsman knows that with only a few games left on the schedule, his team is trying to get to its best before the postseason starts.

"We have three games left on our schedule that will all be good tests for us heading into sectionals," Wrightsman said. "We have a very good Jac-Cen-Del team next week and then we play at Madison to close out. Hopefully our guys will come, play hard and get us ready for the tournament."

Hambrick said he wants to see his team continue to fight going forward.

"We have a few weeks left and a chance to still get better," Hambrick said. "Completely healthy, I think if we're clicking we can make some noise in the sectional. So hopefully we figure out a few things these last few games that will get us ready."

The Pacers host Jac-Cen-Del (11-9, 2-1 ORVC) on Friday. Shawe returns to action on Wednesday when they travel to South Ripley (9-10, 2-1 ORVC).

Today's Puzzle Solved

Woman wants to warn off her ex's new partner

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Amy: I'm a woman previously in a relationship with a man for more than 10 years that ended badly.

He was married and divorced twice before and had three adult children, all of whom I loved and who loved me.

Toward the end of the relationship, I kept catching him in lies. He finally confessed to having been addicted to serious drugs. He was in a 12-step recovery program, which I wholeheartedly supported.

I asked how he'd gotten started, and he gave me answers that rang false, but I felt I had to accept his answers because talking about it made him angry.

I later discovered that he'd been sleeping with men without my knowledge, putting my sexual health in jeopardy. He also acknowledged that he is gender-fluid, which I accepted.

He was not the man I first fell in love with. He had alienated me and his entire family. By the end of our relationship, we were barely speaking.

Fast-forward three years, and he has become involved with a woman over 40 years younger than himself who lives in Indonesia.

My question: Is it my business to tell her of his past? I doubt he will tell her he sleeps with men, as he lied to his wives just as he lied to me (as I learned too late).

If it's none of my business, I'll step aside and perhaps watch this trusting young woman's heart get broken. What do you think? – Learned too Late

Dear Learned too Late: Yes, this is none of your business. But yes, you should tell this woman of your former partner's sexual history.

My caveat is that the presumption here is that the much-younger woman is vulnerable, but who knows? – maybe he's the vulnerable one. Have these two met in person? Maybe he's being catfished by a guy named Stan who lives in Milwaukee.

Faithful employee doesn't receive a tribute

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Amy: What is the etiquette for speeches or tributes at an office retirement party?

My boss is retiring as a family law attorney. I have worked for him as a legal secretary/paralegal for 32 years.

His wife invited me to a "closing the office" party for our law office. I brought nice gifts for both my boss and his partner.

At the party my boss's wife gave a speech. My boss's partner gave a speech. In turn, my boss gave a tribute to his partner.

Our office manager got up and thanked my boss for hiring her. Then my boss went on to talk about her and her family who have all in some way been employed for short-term stints in our office.

Then the office manager's husband got up to thank the office for employing his wife, etc. My boss then thanked an attorney we had as opposing counsel on several cases, who has been his friend for years.

My boss never said a word about me! I (mistakenly?) thought he would thank me for my years of service to him, and then I, in turn, would thank him.

Amy, I have been a devoted, loyal employee for all these years, foregoing vacations because I was concerned there was no one to cover my job when/if I was gone.

I'm not sure this is relevant, but everyone at the party was drinking. I don't drink and am a little reserved.

I am left feeling sad and stunned. – Overlooked

Dear Overlooked: My take on this is that once the office manager's husband got up to give a speech, the whole party took a turn and became a free-for-all of half-drunken "I love you, man" speechifying.

Yes, given how small this office is and how long you have worked for your boss, he absolutely should have paid a public tribute to you.

You were definitely overlooked.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — If you're feeling it, whisper those three little words. If it's looking good now, a romantic relationship could prove to be lasting and loving. Don't let golden opportunities to prove your love and loyalty slip away.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Work hard but make it look easy. take responsibility for your mistakes and follow the example of the highest ethical standards. Do your homework to avoid falling for underhanded or devious schemes.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Speak now even if you previously maintained radio silence; telling the truth can eradicate an awkward situation. Your honesty and candor can help someone want to go along with your ideas or support your objectives.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Demonstrations of love can be expected on Valentine's Day; if these things mean a lot to your partner, be sure you show up. That little card, or gift, or saying just the right words at the right time can make a loved one happy.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — You may feel too tired or pressed for time to feel very romantic on this Valentine's Day but do your best to be present and enjoy the moment. When you stick to honesty and the highest ethics, you need never fear scrutiny.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Put out what you want to get back. You may find out that a romantic partner shares your interests or agrees with your assessments. Balance your own needs with the needs of others and give yourself plenty of validation.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — You may believe in making money the old-fashioned way through hard work. You might also believe in a traditional Valentine's Day gift of flowers or chocolates. Send a message of love to a special romantic someone.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Without some pain, there's often no gain. Hard work is the steppingstone that leads to greater things. It could be tricky to keep a close relationship on an even keel, but true love can conquer most difficult situations.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Even if you don't love a commercial holiday, there may be someone who deserves to hear some words of love. Be a team player; when you both uphold each other's special needs it builds warmth and trust.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — You are a powerhouse of willpower, but you might not be able to overcome every obstacle now. You should stop and think carefully before you make a purchase or investment that could create a long-term liability.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — You can't run until you learn how to walk, so take your time to learn it from the beginning. Get the foundational understanding right and everything is easier. Steer clear of arguments and disputes.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Someone may ask you to be their Valentine today. You can achieve whatever you dream of if you apply action to your vision. Create a mental picture of your goals and then do the steps to make it happen.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — It is a good day to show off your determination to succeed in public and your romantic tendencies in private. Hold off on making sizable expenditures, however, or putting your moneymaking ideas into motion.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Remain discreet and careful. A sketchy scheme or unwelcome truth could be exposed and disrupt your plans. Steer clear of any activity that might compromise ethics and maintain a low profile in public places.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Take advantage of an opportunity to pull out that ace up your sleeve. Use your wisdom and good judgement to avoid confrontations and misunderstandings. Join forces with a close friend or dependable partner.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — It may be to your advantage to slow down. Put big-ticket purchases on the back burner even if you see a sale. Something better will come along so don't saddle yourself to a debt load that may be difficult to repay.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — As a rule, you can't fight city hall, and today, you can't fight rules of any kind and expect to win. Issues from the past can crop up and upset your chances of going forward with a new project or commitment.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Be grateful you have a glass and something in it whether the glass is half full or half empty. Arrive at a compromise early in the day for the most cooperation. Make intelligent financial decisions and reassessments today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Concentrate on making astute observations about people and finances. Use your insights into human nature to handle misunderstandings or workplace issues. Lift the spirits of someone who is overwhelmed by problems.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Some people may not play fair, so remain vigilant. If your problems seem like a karmic echo of your own past errors, pay close attention. What you send out into the world comes back like a boomerang so always act accordingly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — To solve a problem, you need to ask the right questions. Ask for favors or advice early in the day when people should be in a more charitable mood. Steer clear of negative people who seem to find fault with everything.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Remain diplomatic if faced by skepticism. When someone seems grouchy and overtired, it can be difficult to convince them of anything. Avoid volunteering to take on extra bills or financial obligations right now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — It is admirable to be ambitious, but greed is a serious turnoff. Cutthroat tactics are eventually exposed and the Universe is always watching. If plans are thwarted, keep in mind that you are gaining valuable experience.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Feel rich by counting all the gifts you have that money can't buy. Added responsibilities or workplace unpleasantness might make your schedule seem onerous, but you can be at peace and contented within yourself.

HANOVER ROUNDUP

Panthers' HCAC hopes dashed with loss to Manchester

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Hanover's hopes at a regular-season Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference championship were dashed by a 74-72 loss at Manchester on Saturday in men's basketball.

The Panthers came into the game tied with Manchester for second place in the HCAC standings, one game behind Anderson. But the loss drops Hanover into a third-place tie with Rose-Hulman with two games to play.

Ty Houston scored 23 points and had seven rebounds to lead Hanover while Coleman Sater had 18 points, nine rebounds and three assists. Max Greenamoyer finished with a double-double of 12 points and 12 rebounds.

Hanover, now 15-8 overall and 11-5 in the HCAC, travels to Transylvania on Tuesday and hosts Mount St. Joseph on Friday in its regular-season finale. The HCAC Tournament then kicks off on Sunday.

WOMEN ROLL OVER MANCHESTER

won Saturday.

Grace Bezold had 19 points and eight rebounds to lead the Panthers while Katherine Benter scored 16 points and had eight rebounds.

Hanover, now 15-6 overall and 12-2 in the HCAC, hosts No. 2 Transylvania on Tuesday and travels to Mount St. Joseph on Friday to wrap up the regular season. The HCAC Tournament begins on Sunday.

Hanover competes in the Friday Night Spikes event at Rose-Hulman on Friday.

MEN'S LACROSSE OPENS WITH LOSS

Hanover suffered a 21-4 loss at home to Centre in the men's lacrosse season opener on Saturday.

Zach Stone had two goals and Alex Kleinhelter and Colin O'Brien scored one each for the Panthers while goalie Jackson McKeigue had 17 saves.

Hanover, now 0-1 on the season, travels to Wilmington on Saturday.

Arguable late flag takes drama out of Super Bowl ending

BY DAVID BRANDT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

GLENDALE, Ariz. — A questionable late penalty on Philadelphia Eagles cornerback James Bradberry with less than two minutes remaining meant that a scintillating Super Bowl 57 had a bit of an underwhelming finish.

Kansas City won its second Super Bowl in four years by beating the Eagles 38-35 on Sunday in Glendale, Arizona. It was an exciting back-and-forth game that saw the Chiefs claw back from a 10-point halftime deficit.

One of the few gripes for football fans — particularly Eagles fans — was the anticlimactic ending.

The Chiefs were driving and faced third-and-8 at the Eagles 15-yard line with 1:54 remaining when Kansas City quarterback Patrick Mahomes threw incomplete to JuJu Smith-Schuster. But officials flagged Bradberry for defensive holding, which negated the incompletion and, more importantly, gave the Chiefs a first down.

Replays showed that Bradberry made light contact with Smith-Schuster, though it didn't appear to affect the play much.

Many fans — and some football commentators — disagreed with the call.

Many fans — and some football commentators — disagreed with the call. Former NFL tight end Greg Olsen wasn't happy with the decision on the Fox broadcast and ESPN and Amazon analyst Kirk Herbstreit was also critical on social media.

The only person who didn't seem upset with the call was Bradberry himself.

"It was a holding. I tugged his jersey," Bradberry said. "I was hoping they would let it slide."

Referee Carl Cheffers said it was a "clear case of a jersey grab."

"The receiver went to the inside and he was attempting to release to the outside," Cheffers told a pool reporter. "The defender grabbed the jersey with his right hand and restricted him from releasing to the outside. So, therefore, we called defensive holding."

Kansas City was able to essentially run out the clock from that point forward. Chiefs running back Jerick McKinnon made a smart move on the ensuing down, purposefully sliding 2 yards short of the goal line instead of scoring a touchdown.

Mahomes then was able to kneel twice as the clock ran down after the Eagles used their final timeout.

Harrison Butker kicked a 27-yard field goal with 8 seconds remaining that proved to be the winner.

KY BASKETBALL ROUNDUP

Wilcoxson leads Trimble to 71-67 win over Williamstown

BY THE COURIER STAFF

James Thomas Wilcoxson tied his career-high with 36 points to lead Trimble County to a 71-67 win over Williamstown in boys basketball on Saturday.

Wilcoxson also had 11 rebounds for an impressive double-double. Junior Ethan Horn added 21 points for the Raiders while Brayden Wilson had eight points. Jerry Nevils did not score but the senior pulled down 10 rebounds.

Trimble, now 14-13 overall and 2-5 in the North Central Kentucky Conference, traveled to Bethlehem on Monday and closes out the regular season at Kentucky Country Day on Thursday. The Raiders will host the 31st District Tournament next week and will take on Carroll County in the opener on Monday.

CARROLL BOYS BEAT PENDLETON

Carroll County picked up a 60-58 win at Pendleton County in boys basketball on Saturday.

Landon Groves led the Panthers with 21 points while Braden Stephenson scored 15. Cam Butcher chipped in nine points.

Carroll, now 7-18 on the season, hosted Walton-Verona on Monday and closes out the regular season at home against South Oldham on Thursday. The Panthers will then take on Trimble County in the opening round of the 31st District Tournament at Trimble next Monday.

LADY PANTHERS SPLIT TWO

Kaitlyn Hensley scored more than 20 points in back-to-back games as Carroll County split with South Oldham and Eminence in girls basketball over the weekend.

On Friday, Carroll lost 74-60 at home to South Oldham. Hensley had 21 points, Courtney Strickland scored 16 and Reagan Matthews had 12 for the Panthers.

On Saturday, Carroll defeated Eminence 51-41. Hensley had 23 points, Strickland scored nine and Elle Spencer had eight.

Carroll, now 13-15 on the season, improves to 4-2 in the North Central Kentucky Conference and 7-3 in 31st District play. The Panthers hosted Walton-Verona on Monday and close out the regular season at Saint Patrick on Friday. Carroll will then play the winner between Gallatin County and Eminence in the 31st District Tournament semifinals at Trimble County on Thursday, Feb. 23.

TRIMBLE GIRLS FALLS TO BOONE

Trimble County girls basketball dropped a 49-35 decision at home to Boone County on Saturday.

Addison Edmondson led the Raiders with 12 points while Payton Butters scored nine and Gracie Jent had seven.

Trimble, now 9-17 on the season, hosts Shelby County on Tuesday and travels to Louisville Collegiate on Wednesday. The Raiders close out the regular season at home against Oldham County on Friday.

Lack of Winter Olympic bids may lead to rotating fixed hosts

BY ANDREW DAMPF
ASSOCIATED PRESS

MERIBEL, France — Considering the dearth of candidates to stage the Winter Olympics amid spiralling venue costs, the IOC may have to resort to lining up a list of fixed, rotating hosts.

A highly theoretical list could include Salt Lake City and Vancouver in North America, Pyeongchang in Asia and places like Switzerland, Italy and Scandinavia in Europe.

"There are talks. It is a challenge with climate change and also infrastructure to be able to find venues for the Winter Olympics," retired Olympic skiing champion Lindsey Vonn said in a recent interview with The Associated Press.

Vonn is on the bid committee for Salt Lake City's candidacy for the 2030 or 2034 Games.

Most of the rotating hosts would have hosted the Olympics previously, or have most of the venues already built.

"A rotating venue option is on the table in which certain altitude standards would be in place and it would have to have mostly pre-existing structures and it would limit the cost for the venues and it would limit the chances of climate change affecting the competitions in a negative way," Vonn said.

"I know that's been discussed. How early that will happen, I don't know, but I don't think it would happen before 2034."

Sweden's Olympic leaders announced last week that they are weighing up whether to bid for 2030 while the International Olympic Committee has delayed the process to search for more contenders.

Sapporo, Japan was considered the favorite for 2030 before an ongoing bid-rigging scandal related to the Summer Olympics in Tokyo held in 2021. Salt Lake City is the only other known bidder that might consider taking 2030, though officials have said they favor a bid for 2034.

If a Stockholm-centered bid does go ahead, it currently seems sure to win without opposition and get the IOC out of a hole less than seven years before the Games open.

After last year's Beijing Games were held almost entirely on artificial snow, the Milan-Cortina Games in 2026 will be held across a wide swath of northern Italy.

For 2022, Beijing beat Almaty, Kazakhstan — the only other candidate — for hosting rights after several other bids were scrapped by public referendums.

"There's a lot of events that are really difficult to run," said Canadian skier James Crawford, who won the super-G last week at the world championships. "I think there's a lot of places that can host the Winter Olympics … but it's definitely hard for us when there's so few that want to."

Alexis Pinturault, the French skier who won gold in combined and bronze in super-G at the worlds, grew up utilizing the facilities built for the 1992 Albertville Games.

"I also (tried) ski jumping here," he said in his hometown of Courchevel, where the ski jump is adjacent to the downhill course. "I also did cross country skiing. That was the thing with the Courchevel ski club: when you are young you can try many different sports. Then you can choose afterward. I chose Alpine skiing because that's the discipline that gave me the most pleasure."

Pinturault was born a year before the Albertville Games.

"There is still some infrastructure. That's why the Olympics are good in some (ways)," he said. "It's a big part of our history."

Italian veteran Christof Innerhofer added: "For 2026, a lot of venues will be renovated and that's the first step for developing young athletes. For us, the Milan-Cortina Games will be the start of a new cycle. Ten years later, those young athletes will be competing at the Olympics."
